

Effects of Excess Sugar

Recommended Daily Allowance

Children (2-18) ; 6 teaspoons per day

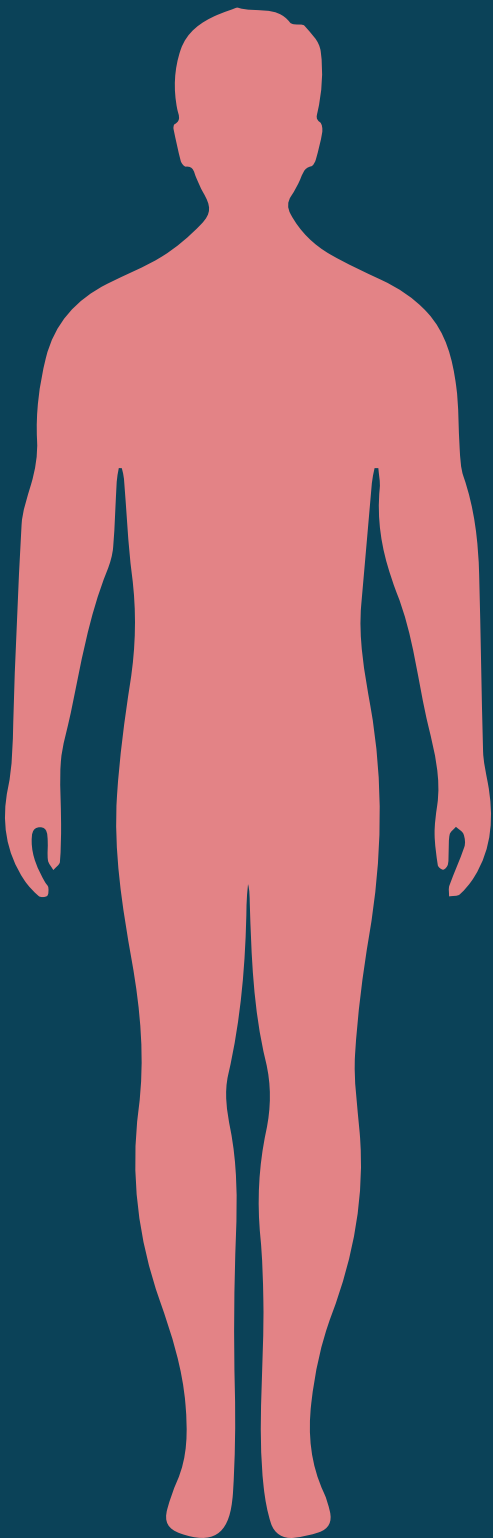

Adult Women: 6 teaspoons per day

Adult Men: 9 teaspoons per day

This includes sugar, brown sugar, raw sugar, coconut sugar, all types of syrup, honey, all types of fruit juices, Dextrose, Glucose, Sucrose, Fructose, Maltose, to name a few. 1 teaspoon = 4 grams

Dental Health

Sugar fuels mouth bacteria, eroding enamel and causing cavities.

Depression and Anxiety

Sugar-rich diets trigger dopamine release, leading to addiction and affecting mood and cognition

Skin

Sugar speeds up aging and worsens acne and rosacea.

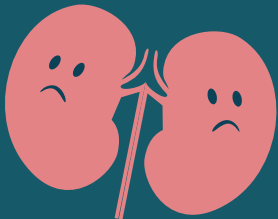

Cardiovascular Disease

Obesity, diabetes, and inflammation from sugar increase heart failure risk.

Kidney Health

Elevated blood sugar damages kidneys, leading to malfunction.

Type 2 Diabetes

Obesity and sugary foods promote insulin resistance, raising risk of diabetes.

Arthritis, Asthma, & Infections

Excess sugar triggers inflammation, can cause arthritis, asthma, and certain cancers.

Gut Health

Sugar disrupts digestive microbiome, causing gut issues.

Weight Gain

Overconsumption of sugar, leads to obesity, linked to diabetes and heart issues.

Fatty Liver

Sugar can cause fatty liver disease, escalating liver failure and cancer risk.

